

James Hull

Customer Solutions Advisor

This industry is in my blood - I grew up watching my dad and he helped develop my interest in building things and solving problems. In my 30+ years in this industry, I have seen when projects run smoothly and I've seen when they do not. I pride myself on evaluating a project and providing the best contractor based on your specific needs. I'm a competitive person by nature, and I am passionate about seeing your project be a success, completed on time and on budget.
